Immaculate Heart High School

Los Angeles, California

Foreword

This year our City of the Angels has been singularly honored by the elevation of its shepherd to the dignity of a Cardinal. In view of this honor to our beloved James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, we have chosen as the theme for the 1953 issue of the COR MARIAE the growth of the Church in Los Angeles.

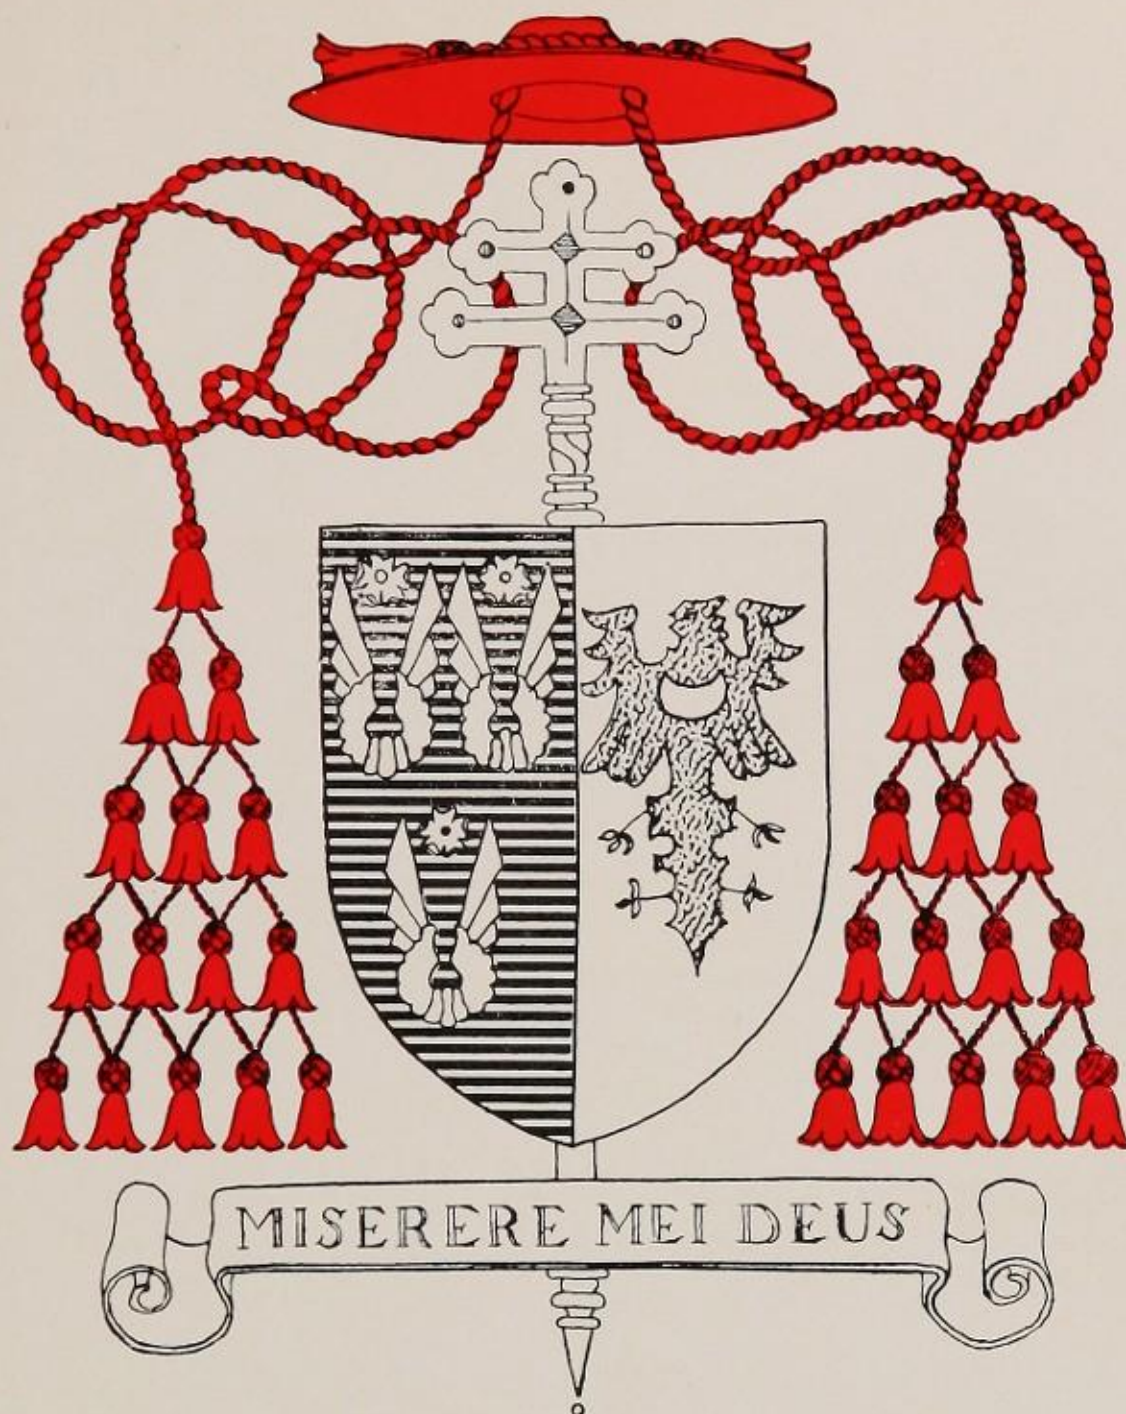

Eleven humble families, the governor of California, and a detachment of soldiers were the participants in the founding on September 4, 1781, of the Pueblo de Nuestra Senora la Reina de los Angeles, or Los Angeles, as we know it today. But it was not until 1822 that the now famous Plaza Church was completed and dedicated, and the aid of all California was required to accomplish this task.

In 1840 Bishop Garcia Diego y Moreno, O.F.M., was appointed as the first prelate of California. He was succeeded ten years later by Bishop Joseph S. Alemany, O.P. At that time the Diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles was established, Monterey being the See. The Right Reverend Thaddeus Amat, C.M., the first bishop of this newly-created diocese, however, took up his episcopal residence in Los Angeles in 1855, at which time the confiscated California missions were returned to the Church by the United States.

Following the Right Reverend Amat were Bishops Francis Mora, George Montgomery, and Thomas Conaty, respectively.

In 1922 the Diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego and the Diocese of Monterey-Fresno were erected. The history of the growth of the Church in Los Angeles reached a high point in 1936, for it was then declared an archdiocese, under the direction of Archbishop John J. Cantwell. At that time San Diego was made a separate diocese.

Now, under the guidance of Cardinal McIntyre, Los Angeles has continued to prosper. But the founding fathers of California have not been forgotten. The seal of Los Angeles contains a symbol representing the mysteries of the rosary. This seal, commemorating forever the early missionaries in California history, may be found on the end sheet of our annual.

Dedication

From eleven families of pioneer stock to almost a million Catholics in a population of five and one-half million is a staggering growth. These individual souls look to James Francis Cardinal McIntyre as their spiritual leader and guide.

As a graduate of the College of the City of New York and Columbia University, James McIntyre had every hope for success. His short but impressive term on Wall Street showed promise for a future in business. It was in 1915 that this youthful financier donned the robes of a seminarian.

Thirty-three years later he was enthroned as the second archbishop of Los Angeles. Later, as the first Cardinal west of St. Louis, this modest man expressed the thought that the Pope had honored Los Angeles, rather than an individual, in this new dignity. To this kindly and understanding leader, we, the students of Immaculate Heart High School, dedicate our 1953 issue of the COR MARIAE.

To the Students of Immaculate Heart High School:

I wish to express to you my heartfelt best wishes, and to congratulate you on the training you have received in these formative years.

In days when destructive philosophies are being widely accepted, it should be consoling to you that your training is well founded in the basic fundamentals of God and Country.

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre

Auxiliary Bishop of Los Angeles

Dear Graduates:

Glorious is the heritage of California, not so much from the fact of the place in the sun that it holds today because of its climate, its industry, and its potential, but because of the religious beginnings that date back to the first padres who came to its shores and the continual religious advantages that have been hers, especially in the last decade. No other locality of comparable size has ever seen such phenomenal growth and such adequate adjustment.

Hence you, as graduates of a Catholic high school, have not only the opportunity but also the responsibility to strive to share in this growth by your continual and constant attention to the new and necessary needs of this community from a religious viewpoint. May all of you, prompted by the good example and tireless efforts of the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart, ever strive to carry out the instructions and mandates of your teachers and thereby fulfill your obligations as Apostles of Christ here on earth and reap the eternal reward of His co-workers in Heaven.

SANTA BARBARA MISSION

Mission Santa Barbara, the Queen of the Missions, was founded five years after Los Angeles, in 1786. This church is distinguished as being the only mission established by Father Junipero Serra, O.F.M., that has always remained under the care of the Franciscans. Bishop Garcia Diego y Moreno, O.F.M., first prelate of California, chose Santa Barbara as the episcopal See in California after he had stayed one month in San Diego, the original seat of the bishopric for the California diocese. He lies entombed in the mission church of Santa Barbara.

OUR LADY QUEEN OF THE ANGELS

The Old Plaza Church, titled "Assistant Mission of Our Lady Queen of the Angels," and dedicated on December 8, 1822, is indeed a monument to the missions. There remains in the Old Plaza today an interesting relic—the original baptismal font which, from 1826 to 1931, was used for the greatest number of baptisms in California—61,369 souls. Begun by the Franciscans of the Mission San Gabriel and served by them until 1934, the oldest church in Los Angeles remains today a reminder of the ever-constant growth and change in this City of the Angels.

The Genesian Players of Immaculate Heart High School for the first time won the "Best Actress Award" and the "Best Production Award" at the Pasadena Playhouse Statewide One-Act Play Festival in March, 1953. Here Sister M. Eucharia, I.H.M., congratulates Nanine Bilski who won the "Best Actress Award" for her portrayal of Harriet Beecher Stowe in Little Immortal by Elizabeth Wehner. The play was directed by our drama coach, Mrs. Raymond Montgomery.

ENGLISH

Students' projects, a culminating activity in the study of the novel, are shown to Sister Agnes Marie's English II class by student, Sheila Pew.

U. S. HISTORY

Student Susan Reinholtz calls attention of U.S. History class and teacher, Sister M. Anita, I.H.M., to important events in Catholic America.

RELIGION

Father George Pausch, our chaplain, instructs sophomore religion class on the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

HISTORY II

Sophomore historians study the controversial issues of modern European History under the direction of their teacher, Sister M. William, I.H.M.

ALGEBRA

Freshmen cooperate with Sister M. Dorothy Ann, I.H.M., to solve an algebra problem.

SOLID GEOMETRY

Solid Geometry class learns about the dihedral angles from teacher, Sister M. Eugenia, I.H.M.

CHEMISTRY

Sister Gilmary, I.H.M., and some members of the chemistry class observe closely a demonstration of the preparation of nitric acid.

PHYSICS

The physics class studies the linear coefficient of expansion under the supervision of Sister M. Eugenia, I.H.M.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE

Both students and instructor, Sister Gilmary, I.H.M., are intensely interested in noting that experimental moment illustrating "moment of force."

Winners of IHHS Science Fair—1953

Carol Swift exhibits her project: Working on Digestive System.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Both instructor, Sister M. William, I.H.M., and class have found that visual aids play an important part in the Driver Education class.

FIRST AID

"Lift . . . slowly . . . release" are the key words of artificial respiration.

Seniors of the First Aid class demonstrate the finer points of bandaging for their instructor, Sister M. Augustine, I.H.M.

Religious Activities

CATHEDRAL OF ST. VIBIANA

The Cathedral of St. Vibiana, which is located in the heart of downtown Los Angeles, was commenced in 1875 at the request of Bishop Francis Mora and completed in 1876. The relics of St. Vibiana, discovered in 1853 near the tomb of St. Sixtus, were brought from Rome to Monterey in 1855. It was not until the year of the dedication that the relics were removed to Los Angeles. The Cathedral was dedicated by Bishop Joseph Alemany, O.P., on April 30, 1876. Two years later saw the death of Bishop Amat, C.M., who is now entombed in the crypt under the high altar.
